NUMBER 287

The Legislature will adjourn about the middle of March.

There is nothing the Democrats would like to see so well as a funeral at Gramercy Park.

General Grant, in answer to the question, "Where is the sword you wore at Lee's surrender?" said he did not have one on, and that he seldom wore one. The last time he wore a sword in battle was at Shiloh and that got broken by a ball.

An attempt is being made to repeal the law under which suits can be brought for criminal libel. The object sought is to confine the remedy for libel to civil procedure. In that case an irresponsible person could slander and libel a personal enemy to his heart's content, and maliciously, too, and the person wronged would have no remedy. Let the law stand as it is.

By a bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Richardson, the appropriations to the State institutions will be as follows: To the State Hospital for the Insane, $35,000; to the Industrial School for Boys, $41,000; for the Deaf and Dumb Institute, $41,000; to the Institute for the Education of the Blind, $19,500; to the State Prison, $18,000; these sums being for current expenses for the ensuing year, and for repairs.

Alexander H. Stephens has finished his history of the United States. He thinks President Hayes' administration will be found on thorough investigation to have been one of the wisest and most economical since the days of John Quincy Adams. By the way, there is no fear that Mr. Stephens will die very soon. He is 72, nothing but skin and bone, and weighs less than a hundred pounds. The grave seems to have more dread of Mr. Stephens than any other man in the country. It can't conquer him although it has been at work at him forty long years.

The Evening Wisconsin gives the following particulars in regard to what course the Sentinel stockholders will take concerning the charges against Louis Durr and W. G. Roberts: "In response to a circular sent out by Samuel McCord, secretary of the Sentinel Company, asking advice as to the criminal prosecution of Louis Durr and W. G. Roberts, replies favorable to such a proceeding have been received from all of the stockholders except D. L. Wells and C. F. Halsey. These gentlemen are non-committal in their replies and do not give advice either way. In obedience to the majority voice of the stockholders of the Sentinel Company in the matter of criminal proceedings, charging embezzlement and other illegal doings, will be commenced some time next week against Louis Durr and W. G. Roberts."

At the recent meeting of the State Horticultural Society in Madison, Mr. J. C. Plumb, of Milton, made an address on the "Present and Future of Horticulture in Wisconsin." He had selected statistics showing the number of fruit-growing apple trees in Wisconsin had increased over 200,000 trees since 1878. At present there are 2,189,000 fruit-bearing trees in this State. Rock county has the largest number of trees of any county in Wisconsin, although Jefferson produced the most fruit.

He said it was not always the largest number of trees that produced the greatest amount of fruit. Sheboygan county raised more fruit for the number of trees than any county in Wisconsin. He considered fruit-raising as profitable a business in this State as stock-raising and dairy products, and that Wisconsin does not produce sufficient fruit for its own use.

It has been suggested, and very wisely too, that one of the inventions which the world needs and is willing to pay for, is a civilized cattle car, coupled with a system by which the poor beasts who go from the West to the East to be slaughtered can be decently housed and properly fed while on the way to meet their fate. By present methods much cruelty is wrought on the suffering creatures. This is bad for them and bad for the people who eat the steaks and chops into which they are made. Palace dining room cars and luxurious sleeping coaches are provided for persons; but the poor animals which must be carried on the cars for hundreds of miles and then killed for food, are shipped in a manner which is a dishonor to our civilization and our professed humane feelings. Once a humane Society offered a reward of $5,000 for an invention which would secure the desired reform. Some seven hundred models and plans were presented. Some of them were good, but none of them were exactly what is needed. If any one wants to become a public benefactor let him invent a good cattle car.

Mr. Thomas M. Nichol who is acting as general agent of the Garfield Monument committee of Cleveland, has written a letter in which he makes some interesting statements in regard to the plan, purpose, and progress of the committee's work. He says: "The committee selected by citizens of Cleveland simply propose a plan to the American people to raise a fund and erect a National monument. They estimate that $250,000 will be required (about the sum expended on Lincoln's monument at Springfield). Of this they pledge $100,000 from Ohio; and of this sum, in Cleveland alone over $73,000 has already been raised. When I was requested a few weeks ago, as the agent of the committee, to organize a scheme for raising $150,000 outside of Ohio, that sum was divided among the several States in what was considered fair ratio to their ability to give, and a well-known citizen of each State (with the exception of four or five States not yet visited) secured to take charge of the matter for the State." So far the States have responded liberally, and there is no doubt that the required sum—$250,000—will be raised.

SELF DESTRUCTION.

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill., Feb. 10.—The inhabitants of this village were shaken from center to circumference this morning over the startling intelligence that the body of Miss Nellie Seed had been found locked in her room under the influence of an overdose of chloroform. When found by friends to-day life was barely perceptible, and the untimely efforts of Drs. Garrison and Robinson, who were called, failed to have the slightest effect at restoring consciousness. She continued to breathe, however, at slight intervals, until near noon to-day, when life was found extinct. Miss Seed was for years our Postmistress at this place, and was superseded a week ago by J. H. Roberts. Tumors are conflicting regarding the fatal dose, some of her friends claiming that she had dropped hints that would lead them to suppose it was taken with suicidal intent, while others maintain that it was taken to ease the terrible pain occasioned by an aching tooth. Her mother who has been dangerously ill for some time, is almost wild over the sad and distressing occurrence. The funeral will take place to-morrow.

NOT SO BAD.

NEW YORK, February 10.—The liabilities of William R. Preston & Co., of the Produce Exchange, are $65,000. Creditors are of the opinion that the firm will pay 50 cents on the dollar.

NOT TO BE SNEEZED AT.

That pure, sweet, safe and effective American distillation of witch hazel, American pine, Canada fir, marigold and clover blossom, called Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh. A few doses instantly relieve the most violent sneezing or head cold, stop all watery discharges from the nose and eyes, headache and nervousness, and banish all danger of fever. Complete treatment for one dollar.

BURNED TO DEATH.

MONROE, Ont., Feb. 10.—A most disastrous fire occurred yesterday evening near Pringle's Mills, Huntingdon. The house of John Morland was burned to the ground, and his wife, his step-daughter, and three children were burned to death before they could make their escape. Two young men named Simon Rombach and Minard Huff, who were stopping at the house, were so badly burned that they are not expected to recover. It seems a large vessel of coal-oil had just been brought home and was leaking on the floor, when a man named Peter Van Allen, thinking to remove the oil from the floor, put a light to it, and in a few moments the whole thing was in a blaze and the disastrous consequences above recorded were the results. The man, Van Allen, whose carelessness caused the disaster, escaped without any harm.

A BRAKEMAN'S FUNERAL.

CLINTON, Feb. 10.—Mr. Pease, crushed by the cars at Elroy, was buried here to-day. His obsequies were largely attended. He was a brother-in-law of our postmaster.

KNIGHTS OF HONOR.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 10.—The Grand Lodge of the State of Wisconsin of Knights of Honor will meet in sixth annual session in this city next Thursday.

Gently Cross It.

Engine Cross, Swan Street, Buffalo, writes: "I have used SPRING BLOSSOM for dyspepsia and indigestion, and have found it to act admirably as a gentle aperient and blood purifier. I consider it unequalled; you are at liberty to use my name as a reference." Price 50 cents, trial bottles 10 cents. Sold by A. J. Roberts and Sherer & Co.

GOOD FOR CORNELL.

ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 10.—Five students in the Cornell kidnapping case have been suspended indefinitely and required to leave Ithaca immediately. Forty other students are yet to be dealt with. President White says hazing will be repressed, if it requires the expulsion of one or all the classes.

THE NEW WISCONSIN.

OSHKOSH, Wis., Feb. 10.—Manager Finney and Chief Engineer Spaulding, of the Central railroad, spent the day here, looking over the city and selecting a route for the proposed new line of the Wisconsin Central Road through here to Milwaukee. Two or three routes have been mapped, to be determined hereafter. Mr. Finney disclosed that the Central is not to build the new road, but that articles of incorporation for a new independent company are now being prepared, to be known as the Milwaukee, Lake Winnebago and Superior road, with seven Wisconsin Central officers as incorporators, besides several outsiders, although this company will work with the Central. Also that the ultimate object is to extend the road north from Neenah into the Lake Superior region.

For all bodily ailments, arising from impurity of blood, a torpid liver, irregularity of the bowels, indigestion, constipation, or disorderly kidneys, is warranted in a free use of BURDOCK BLOOD PURIFIER. Price $1.00, trial size 10 cents. Sold by A. J. Roberts, and Sherer & Co.

OBITUARY.

RACINE, Feb. 10.—The funeral of W. K. May, who died on Wednesday night, will occur to-morrow afternoon. Mr. May was well known throughout the State, and has lived in this city for thirty years. At the time of his death he was 70 years of age. Darwin May, of Milwaukee, is his son. For several years the deceased was in the grain and elevator business, and was well known to Milwaukee grain merchants. He was one of the trustees of Racine college, and a trustee and secretary of the Taylor Orphan asylum.

RESCUED FROM DEATH.

The following statement of William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for it the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of 1876, I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half dollar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and medicines. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of DR. WM. HALL'S BALM FOR THE LUNGS. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when, to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years."

"I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with Diseased Lungs will be induced to take DR. WM. HALL'S BALM FOR THE LUNGS, and be convinced that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED. I have taken two bottles, and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness. My cough has almost entirely disappeared, and I shall soon be able to go to work." Sold by druggists.

A DEFAULTER DETECTED.

ST. PAUL, February 10.—D. W. Vanderpool, late head bookkeeper of the First National bank, was arrested to-day on a charge of embezzling $18,000 from the bank. The officer attended him to the office, where the prisoner reached for his coat, which disclosed a murderous-looking pistol in such a way that the officer seized it to guard against a tragedy. The arrest and attendant circumstances created a sensation on the street, although such a sequel was looked for by many, as the air has been full of damaging rumors regarding Vanderpool's retirement from the bank. The money was taken through drafts on Chicago and other centers of exchange which were not regularly entered, and the same was spent to cover wheat options, and in dalliance with the fraud. Of the $18,000 taken, $12,500 was made good in various ways, and the balance may be secured from firms in which the prisoner was a silent partner, one of which at least is said to be solvent. Vanderpool has an invalid wife and three children all dependent upon him, but he will be prosecuted to the end. He has little hope for bail even.

CLARA VARNUM.

WARREN, Ind., Feb. 10.—Some eight months ago a young woman named Clara Varnum, living at Columbia City, suddenly disappeared, and no trace of her could be obtained. Blood-spots found seemed to indicate that she had been foully dealt with. Her disappearance was almost forgotten, when this week she turned up at Fort Wayne, confessed to having stolen some money at Columbia City, and expressed her willingness to receive punishment. She was taken to Columbia City and lodged in jail, where she awaits the session of the Criminal Court. Miss Varnum is a young woman 22 years of age, and has a respectable appearance. It is thought that she will be sent up for three years, the extreme penalty of the law.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—This afternoon, in the house of James Sweetman, No. 1543 Michigan avenue, George Robinson, an "English George," driver of an ice wagon, shot a servant girl named Mary Bacon, inflicting a mortal wound, and then opening his mouth fired a bullet into his brain and instantly fell at her feet. The girl had refused to marry Robinson, who is apparently 40 years of age. Mary was of excellent character. She is not expected to live but a few hours.

APPROPRIATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The "immediate deficiency" appropriation bill appropriates $1,437,533, of which the following are the most important items: Public printing, $400,000; Indian service (principally for the Sioux), $418,000; transportation of coin and bullion, $50,000; construction of vaults in the Treasury, $75,000; clerical force in Patent Office, $25,000; clerical force in Pension Office, $75,000; under Fish Commission, $77,000; Post Office Department, $310,000; repairs to Executive Mansion, $23,000.

The Military Academy appropriation bill recommended the appropriations of $318,857, being $100,717 less than estimates, and $357 less than the amount appropriated for the current year.

A new scientific instrument is the "pulvimeter," which registers the quantity of rain falling within a certain period, and the duration and the hour of the fall.

It has been discovered that a minute fungus will cause fermentation in a solution of glucose, while it does not affect that of cane sugar. Advantage has been taken of this fact to separate cane sugar from molasses, the glucose undergoing fermentation, and thus allowing the cane sugar to crystallize out.

A PAPER said to be proof against fire and water is prepared in this way. After a mixture of two-thirds ordinary paper pulp and one-third asbestos has been thoroughly incorporated, it is steeped in a solution of common salt and alum. It is then made into paper, which is finally coated with shellac varnish.

The new invention, the photophone, a modification of the telephone with silencing, by means of which light is made durable, has had a new and practicable application. It has been employed in the study of the solar eruptions and the effect of these great convulsions in the sun has been perceived audibly by the ear of the observer.

A MEDICAL missionary has learned the curious fact that Mongol doctors are not entirely unacquainted with the properties of galvanism. It is said that they are in the habit of prescribing pulverized loadstone ore for sores, and a man hard of hearing was, in one case, recommended to put a piece of loadstone into each ear and chew a piece of iron in his mouth!

MR. C. J. KINTNER, of the United States Patent Office, believed that, judging from what has already been done in various applications of electricity, within the next decade we shall find our large telegraphic corporations operating their elevators, supplying motive power, heat, and light throughout their buildings, and electricity for their lines from one common source of power.

The researches of Professor Quincke indicate that the change of volume of solid and liquid bodies under electrical influence is not due to heat, for the change produced in the volume of fatty oils is one of contraction. The same investigator has shown that electricity diminishes the elasticity of flint and German glass, which is also said to be the case with India rubber, while the elasticity of mica and gutta percha is increased.

A DAIRYING company of London have a laboratory at which samples of milk received from farmers are subjected to chemical analysis. Prizes have been offered by the company, which are to be given those farmers whose milk supply stands highest in quality during a stated period of time. The samples of milk are carefully examined by the company's analyst, whose analyses and reports will decide the competition for the prizes. It is expected that much valuable information respecting methods for producing the richest possible milk will be produced in this way.

If elastic gum is warmed, then expanded and wound in a spiral upon a glass tube or wire, and cooled for a short time in a cooling mixture, it shows no tendency to contract; but when it is submitted to hot water it returns quickly to its original length. The phenomenon can be made to appear without the aid of the cooling mixture. If one holds heated gum a second in an expanded condition it shows no disposition to return to its original length, but if one immerses it in hot water it contracts to one-fourth or one-fifth of its original length. Maxwell has found that similar phenomena are produced in gutta percha.

For the purpose of determining the capacity of a horse to undergo the privations incident to a state of siege, a series of experiments have been made in Paris. The results show: That a horse may hold out for twenty-five days without any solid nourishment, provided it is supplied with sufficient good drinking water; that a horse can subsist on barley five days without water; and, thirdly, that if a horse is well fed for ten days, but insufficiently supplied with water throughout this period, it will not outlive the eleventh day. A horse which had received no solid nourishment for twelve days was nevertheless in a condition to draw a load of six hundred pounds on the twelfth day of its fast.

The ancestors of Edgar A. Poe, the poet, emigrated, according to Italian accounts, from Italy to England in the eighteenth century.

LIFE in Tennessee: It is related that one hundred and fifty Tennessee clergymen recently prayed for rain, and it was followed by a fortnight of the driest season ever known in that State. The circumstance caused considerable excitement until a Chattanooga man dropped into a country grocery store with the explanation that he reckoned Providence had got tired of being fooled by people who prayed for water when what they want all the time is whisky.—Brooklyn Eagle.

RUFUS CHOATE believed in hard work and struggle. When some one said to him that a certain fine achievement was the result of accident, he exclaimed: "Nonsense! You might as well drop the Greek alphabet on the ground and expect to pick up the Iliad!"

Women as Telegraph Operators.

An official of the Western Union Company speaking of men as well as women, said to the reporter: "The general public has a very insufficient idea of what it owes to female operators. Little more than five years ago we were the slaves of our men. They formed a high-priced, a thoroughly independent body. They made money and spent it. Telegraph operators are as Bohemian in their instincts as actors and newspaper men. They never work while they have cash or credit to play on. Their pay-days fall bi-monthly, and every pay-day left us crippled for operators till the roistering absences had run their money through. If we ventured to expostulate, they would refuse to work at all. If we expressed disapprobation at any thing they did they would tell messages accumulate till there would be half a day's, and even longer, delay in the most important business. There was no actual trades union among them, but they stuck together and had things pretty much their own way."

"Then the suggestion was made that we should employ women as operators. The late President Orton was the originator of this idea. His friends would frequently send young ladies, who had learned telegraphy in private schools, to him for employment, and he knew that a number whom he had found positions in business houses for were capable of excellent work. Finally we employed a few on the short and easy lines. They did their work admirably. They were not as fast as the men, and could not work the heavy distance wires. But for all ordinary work they were quite capable and satisfactory."

"The male operators made a vigorous kick, and distinguished themselves by no little boisterous toward their sister professors, but they had to leave in. They made a strike of it and held out for a week, when the usual break-up occurred, and they staggered in till all were forced to terms. From that time forth the public were better served than it had ever been before. The old male ruin sign of the dandy operator was over. But the greatest convenience the employment of women rendered possible was the establishment of the small local offices in hotels and the up-town districts, where it would never have paid to keep a high-toned male operator at a salary of much as much as the office brought in. Many of our local offices were at the start attended to by young women who took commission on their returns as pay. Now, however, we have them all under control. Out of four or five hundreds, I was going to say, of offices in the care of female operators. They are small offices, at places where a man would not stay. For instance, at a village of a couple of score of houses we could not afford to keep an operator at a city salary. But by paying some young girl who lives there twenty-five or thirty dollars a month, which is more than she could earn in such a place at much harder labor, we are able to keep the line open to furnish facilities which the residents of that town need of."

The same remarks apply to many branch offices here and in other cities where business is light, but there is still a demand for local service. If it was not for our women operators these places would not be supplied with telegraphic service at all."

If the public have been benefited by the introduction of the female operatives into telegraphy, the male operatives certainly have not. There has been a marked decline in salaries since the women entered the business. The best operators, giants in their line, who send and take messages with incredible speed, still make handsome salaries enough, as salaries in telegraphy go, and less able operators, by doing extra work, earn good livings. But among the mass of operators salaries have been seriously cut into. Women are doing for from $25 to $50 a month what ten years ago men got from $50 to $80 and $100 for doing. The pay of operators outside has similarly suffered. Many manufacturing and large business houses enjoy private telegraphic lines. These need to employ men. New women do the service at nearly all of them. In the same way, at hundreds of minor country stations, where a man, by combining the wretched salaries of station-agent for the railroad and operator for the telegraph company, contrived to eke out a comfortable living, women now do their work for even less than half their old remuneration.

"And it's going to be worse yet," said an operator, who was standing guard over a Park Row lunch-counter, to a reporter. "For the telegraph company keep grinding 'em out like corn at a mill. Give 'em $30 a month and a looking-glass and a cheap novel, and they don't ask any more. What show has a decent man got alongside of such opposition, I'd like to know?"

"Did he say that?" asked the young lady at the hotel, when the reporter communicated the remarks to her, and asked if they were true.

"He did."

The young lady tapped the lever of her instrument with expressive vehemence.

"Well, I've got to say is that, he is an operator," she replied. "I don't know any worse name for him than that."—New York Sunday News.

Answers to Correspondents.

J. W. M. Little Rock: "I have some literary aspirations. Would you kindly give me some information as to how editors are paid?"

So few editors are paid, that it is impossible to procure data sufficient to base an answer on. We have referred your question to the ex-editor of a daily paper, and he says: "If you want to be paid in full for your labors, swap your literary aspirations for a hoe, and go to work on a farm, but do not be an editor."

Laura S. Huntsville: "How do you fix castor oil so that you do not taste it? I am told there is some way to do this."

This is the way we fix it so that we do not taste it. We mix it with some sugar and the white of an egg, in a glass, and bribe the office boy to drink it. That is the most successful way we have yet discovered.

Jane P. R. Sumter, S. C.: "What could I present to a gentleman friend on his birthday?"

You could, if you so desired, present him with a piece of soap, a couple of lengths of stove pipe, or a cheese, but none of these articles would be appropriate birthday presents. We presume you wanted to learn what you should present to him. Try him with an ulcer or some warm underclothing. He will be more likely to need that at this season than anything else.—Texas Sittings.

HOME, FARM AND GARDEN.

—Seions, it is claimed, carry with them the bearing of the tree from which they were taken.

—Rye-Breakfast Cakes.—Two cups of rye meal, one half cup of molasses, one and one-half cups of sweet milk, one teaspoonful of soda, and a little salt. Bake at once in gem pans.

—Sauce for Boiled Beef.—Grate a quantity of horse radish, boil it in sufficient water to give it the consistency of sauce, add a pinch of salt and two or three tablespoonfuls of tarragon vinegar; then stir in, off the fire, a gill of cream; beaten up with yolk of an egg.

—The Industrialist states that Mr. J. M. Van Nordstrand, of Kansas, who harvested 213 bushels per acre, while his neighbors' crops from similar soil and seed, but without such extra attention, yielded only at the rate of three to sixteen bushels.

—For some reason or other, says the Rural Home, new varieties of potatoes deteriorate more rapidly than they did before the appearance of the potato-beetle, and the consequent use of Paris-green. If the poison affects the vitality of the leaf so that it ceases to perform its functions before the maturity of the tubers, their quality would be affected thereby.

—More might be said about whole-some cellars additional to the excellent remarks quoted from Dr. Dempsey. It is a question of prime importance, greater to farmers and their families than perhaps any other sanitary one. Old houses around which the soil is reeking with stinks of all kinds, the foul air from which is sucked into the house through the walls by the draft of the warm building, are undoubtedly a cause of many of the mysterious visitations of zymotic diseases to solitary and apparently breezy and healthful, and even cleanly-kept country homes.—N. Y. Tribune.

—The composition of buckwheat has been examined by M. G. Lechertier. He states that the proportion of mineral matter in the straw increases with the weight. The straw may indeed become richer in phosphoric acid than the grain, differing thus completely from that of the other cereals. The straw of a crop of buckwheat may contain more mineral matter than does the grain. The sum of the principal fertilizers removed from the soil by an entire crop is much more considerable than for a crop of wheat containing the same quantity of grain.

—Cream to use with any kind of layer cake is made from this recipe: Take one pound of blanched almonds, pounded to a paste, one coffee cup of thick, sour cream, two tablespoonfuls of corn starch scalded in a little sweet milk, beat all together and spread between the layers of the cake; flavor with a little almond extract. This is very rich and is suitable for the nicest kinds of cake. For more common use an inviting cream may be made in this way: Take a pint of sweet milk, thicken it with half a cup of corn starch, add half a cup of sugar and boil until the cream of custard is of the consistency of starch. When cool add one tablespoonful of lemon or vanilla and spread between the layers of the cake.

—Pumpkin or Squash Pie.—Cut the pumpkin or squash into very thin slices and boil until tender in as little water as possible, watching carefully that it does not scorch; set the stew kettle on top the stove, drain off all the water, mash and rub through the colander or sieve; for two pies take three heaping coffee cups of the strained pumpkin, adding to it while warm a piece of butter the size of a walnut, one pint of rich hot milk, ten heaping tablespoonfuls of sugar, two slightly heaped teaspoonfuls of ginger, one and a half teaspoonfuls powdered cinnamon, three-fourths of a grated nutmeg, two teaspoonfuls of vanilla, a pinch of salt, and four eggs (the yolks and whites beaten separately); bake with an under crust and in a hot oven or they will not be nice and brown. When done sift a little powdered sugar on top. It is well to heat the batter scalding hot before pouring it into the pie dishes. Do not bake until the whey or the crust will be softened and the flavor spoiled.

—There is no better way of restoring soil than by growing and plowing under clover. The difficulty is in inducing the clover to grow upon soils so poor as to need this method of improvement. But when the soil is in fair condition, if this practice is begun and continued, it will then keep it improving without difficulty. If your soil is good enough to produce clover, there would be no better way to improve it than by seeding it and plowing in the crop. But if it is already poor, it is probable that the attempt to grow a crop of oats and get a good catch of clover by the use of plaster alone might fail. This depends on the condition of the soil, of which you will be the best judge.

It is too poor to do this, it would be better to sow buckwheat in May and plow it in in July and sow again, and then seed with clover, and in August run over the field with a mower, and cut the buckwheat in blossom, and cut it down, and leave it on the ground as a protection and fertilizer for the clover. The clover will be large enough to plow in the next fall when in seed, and the ground may be sown to rye or wheat, or left for corn the next season.—N. Y. Times.

Re-ripe for Curing Meat.

As the season has arrived when curing meat is in order, we republish, as of old, our famous recipe for curing beef, pork, mutton, hams, etc., as follows: To one gallon of water, take 1 lb. of salt, 1 lb. sugar, 1 oz. saltpeter, 1 oz. potash. (Omit the potash unless you can get the pure article. Druggists usually keep it.)

In this ratio the pickle can be increased to any quantity desired. Let the meat be boiled together until all the dirt from the sugar rises to the top and is skimmed off. Then throw it into a tub to cool, and when cold, pour it over your beef or pork. The meat must be well-covered with pickle, and should not be put down for at least two days after killing, during which time it should be slightly sprinkled with powdered saltpeter, which removes all the surface-blood, etc., leaving the meat fresh and clean. Some omit boiling the pickle, and find it to answer very well, though the operation of boiling purifies the pickle, by throwing off the dirt always to be found in salt and sugar. If this recipe is strictly followed, it will require only a single trial to prove its superiority over the common way, or most ways, of putting down meat, and will not soon be abandoned for any other. The meat is unsurpassed for sweetness, delicacy and freshness of color.—German Town Telegraph.

MISCELLANEOUS.

STATEMENT UNDER OATH.

"I HAVE been afflicted for twenty years with an obstinate skin disease, called by some 'D.'s Eruptions, and others 'Leprosy,' commencing on my scalp, and, in spite of all I could do, with the help of the most skillful doctors, it slowly but surely extended until a year ago this winter it covered my entire person in form of dry scales. For the last three years I have been unable to perform my labor, and am now nearly all the time. Every morning there could be nearly a dust-pail of scales taken from the sheet on my bed, and the scales were so large as the envelope containing this letter. In the latter part of the winter my skin commenced cracking open. I tried everything, almost that could be thought of, without any relief. The 12th of June I started West, in hopes I could reach the Hot Springs, I reached Colorado, and was so low I thought I should have to go to the hospital, but finally got as far as Laramie, Mich., where I had a sister living. One Dr. treated me about two weeks, but did me no good. All thought I had but a short time to live. I earnestly prayed for relief. Cracked through the skin all over my back, across my ribs, arms, hands, limbs, feet badly swollen, toes nails came off, finger nails dead and hard as stone, hair dead, dry and lifeless as old straw. Oh, my God! how I did suffer!

"My sister, Mrs. E. H. Davis, had a small box of Cuticura in the house. She wouldn't give up; said 'We will try Cuticura.' Some was applied to one hand and arm. Eureka! there was relief; stopped the terrible burning sensation from the worst spot. They immediately got Cuticura Soap (the great skin cure), and commenced by taking one tablespoonful of Cuticura Soap freely; applied Cuticura morning and evening. Result, returned to my home in just six weeks from the time I left, and my skin as smooth as the sheet of paper.

—When the Janesville fire department turns out to a fire, and all the apparatus are in line on our streets, they create a scene and commotion, grand and exciting to behold.

DR. E. C. WEST'S PIERCE'S, Buffalo, N. Y.: Dear Sir—I write to tell you what my "Favorite Prescription" has done for me. I had been a great sufferer from female complaints, especially "dragging-down," for over six years, during much of the time unable to work. I advise every sick lady to take it. Mrs. EMILY RHODES, McBrides, Michigan. ang14/11

The Performance of "Only a Farmer's Daughter."

A few days ago the outlook for this drama in Janesville was poor. There came from Chicago the report that the play was very bad, and that the actors were worse, and therefore the whole thing was a disgrace to the name of drama and acting. The company which received these attacks from some of the great "moral" newspapers of Chicago has come and gone. It drew at Lappin's hall, what might be called in Janesville, a large house. The audience was enthusiastic, and the play and players were well received. It would seem that the critics were in the market, and when no one connected with "Only a Farmer's Daughter" refused to buy and pay the price, they opened against the company with their criticisms. The play will not probably be counted a solid piece of drama, for it is not; but it is strong enough and good enough to draw well wherever it has been played. There is hardly a play on the road that is purer, stronger, or more effective. The plot is excellent, the dialogue finely written, the situations telling, and above all it is exceptionally free from the slightest insinuations that would shock the most delicate eyes or ears.

The cast last night, as traveling companies go, was a strong one. Adelaide Cherie, as Madame Laurent, did some splendid acting. She has a fine stage presence, beautifully and richly dressed—and attracted close attention and was heavy and frequent applause. Mr. Elliot Barnes, author of the play, took Jack Hartley, and in the comedy scenes convulsed the audience. Little Mamie Gilroy, who acted the part of Nelly, is only eight years old, and is one of the most talented and successful child actresses upon the stage. All the other parts were well taken, so that the play last night had as strong a hold on the audience as any play, which has been given in Janesville for some time.

The Dead Cannot Be Raised.

nor if your lungs are badly wasted away can you be cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." It is, however, unequalled as a tonic, alterative, and nutritive, and readily cures the most obstinate cases of bronchitis, coughs, colds, and incipient consumption, far surpassing in efficacy cod liver oil. Send two stamps for Dr. Pierce's pamphlet on Consumption and Kindred Affections. Address: WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

"One Hundred Wives."

To-night this great drama which is attracting so much attention throughout the country will be played at Myers opera-house. There is a power as well as interest in that piece of stage business which is working good results. It is not merely a mighty blow at polygamy, but it is an intensely interesting dramatic production which commands applause and produces irresistible enthusiasm. The opera house should be packed, and doubtless it will, as the play has that merit about it that strikes the public heart.

Young and middle aged men suffering from nervous debility, premature old age, loss of memory, and kindred symptoms, should send three stamps for Part VII of pamphlets issued by World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Second Alarm.

The second alarm of fire in this city this year was sounded on the fire bells at ten o'clock last night, which summoned the department to the blazing barns of John O'Gara and William Norton, between Franklin and High streets, in the Fourth ward. The barns were nearly destroyed before the alarm reached the fire department, but was responded to in extraordinary quick time; and owing to the bad condition of the approaches to the river in that vicinity, the engines were considerably delayed in getting water. The barns were totally destroyed, entailing a loss of about two hundred dollars, with no insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to be the work of a gang of boys, who are in the habit of playing in that neighborhood, and make free use of all the hiding places when "humped" is the game, and that they dropped some matches, a lighted pipe, or cigar, in the hay, from which fire was communicated.

The Inquest.

The following is the verdict of the coroner's jury, in relation to what caused the death of Mrs. E. W. Hilt.

An inquest taken at the city of Janesville, in the county of Rock, State of Wisconsin, on the 10th day of February, A. D. 1882, before M. S. Prichard, one of the Justices of the Peace of the said county, upon the view of the body of Ellen Hilt, then dead, by the jurors whose names are hereunto subscribed, who being duly sworn to inquire in behalf of the State, when, in what manner, and by what means the said Ellen Hilt came to her death, upon their oaths do say: That the said Ellen Hilt came to her death by having been burned, on the 9th day of February, 1882, at the city of Janesville, so that she died by means of petroleum burning fluid below legal test, which she had spilled upon her clothes; and which became ignited from a lighted lamp filled with the same material which she held in her hand, she having purchased and used said fluid for illuminating purposes.

Life of the Czar of Russia.

The following brief sketch of the Czar's life is taken from Chambers' Encyclopedia:

Alexander II., Emperor of Russia, was born April 29, 1818. He was carefully educated by his father, Nicholas, who professed himself delighted with the manifestations of true Roman spirit in his son. At sixteen he was declared of age, and made Commander of the Lanciers, and the Grand Master of the Cossacks. First Aide-Camp of the Emperor, and subject daily to a life of maneuvering, reviewing and military parade, which at last seriously injured his health. He then traveled through Germany to recruit his energies, and while there concluded a marriage with the Princess Maria, daughter of the Grand Duke of Darmstadt in 1841. He now vigorously applied himself to his studies as Chancellor of the University of Finland. By his dexterous and subtle manners he insinuated himself into the affections of the Empress, and wedded their love of independence. He founded a chair of the Finnish language and literature, and defrayed the expenses of numerous remote expeditions undertaken by the savants, such as Cyprien, Wallin and Castron. In 1850 he visited Southern Russia, Nikolaieff, Sebastopol, Tiflis, Erivan, &c. It is said he witnessed with regret the attitude which his father assumed toward Europe, and that he altogether disapproved of the Crimean War. On his accession to the throne, March 2, 1855, he found himself in a critical position. He had two parties to conciliate at home—the old Muscovite party, blindly zealous for war, and the more peaceable and intelligent portion of the Nation, who possessed his personal sympathies. He pursued a course calculated to encourage both; spoke of adhering to the policy of his illustrious ancestors, and at the same time concluded peace. Since then he has shown a strong desire to purge the internal administration of its impurities. He has sharply rebuked the corruption of functionaries, and severely punished some as a warning to the rest. An honorable recognition has been given to public instruction, which he has freed from military influence where that absurdity existed, as in the law schools of St. Petersburg, and has placed it under his own direct and personal superintendence. His moderation has even stimulated the hopes of the Poles. By a ukase of May 27, 1856, he has granted to all Polish exiles who are willing to express repentance for the past, permission to return home; but, though desirous of preserving the nationality of Poland, he will not separate it from the Great Russian Family. The grand achievement of his reign, however, as yet is the emancipation of the Russian serfs in 1861, and of the Polish serfs in 1867. An attempt was made to assassinate him at Paris, June 6, 1867, when on a visit to Napoleon III.

Men Are Liberal to Be Seen of Men.

An eminent British clergyman was severely opposed to what he called sensational methods of gathering collections. He denounced the practice of passing collection boxes or baskets through the congregation, and said it was unscriptural. He believed that giving ought to be done on principle, without special impulse, and without appeal to the feelings. He determined to put his views into practical operation in his own way. So he told the people that for one year they might put their donations for missionary work into two large boxes, which he placed for the purpose in the church vestibules. These boxes, which were made of stout oak, were securely locked, and would not be opened until the close of the year, when he hoped they would be full of money. He wanted people quietly and unostentatiously to deposit their gifts in the openings in the tops of these boxes, in the sight of the Lord, and not "to be seen of men." The boxes were recently opened. On carefully counting the contents of both, the total sum was found to be somewhat less than two shillings, all in copper coin. The eminent clergyman still believes that his theory of benevolence is the correct one. But he believes that he is in advance of his age, for he is persuaded that the people will not put his view into practical operation.
